Our Mission

We Believe that All Children Have Basic Rights

All People Deserve These Rights!

Rights of the Child

The following are a few of the rights based on documents produced by the United Nations in 1989.

The Right to Live in a Family or Family Environment

Every child lives in a family, either with their parents, extended family, foster family, an adoptive home or in a family-style environment where they have a sense of belonging.

The Right to a Stable, Loving, and Nurturing Environment

Every child is provided a stable, loving, and nurturing family environment.

The Right to Healthcare and Nutrition

Every child receives regular, high-quality medical attention, is taught good health and hygiene habits, and is provided nutritious, delicious food at every meal.

The Right to Clean Water and Electrical Power

Every child receives consistent access to clean water and electrical power.

The Right to Quality Education

Every child receives a quality education, enrichment programs, and access to higher education and/or vocational training.

The Right to Equal Opportunity

The Right to Guidance

Every child is actively supported by caring adults who are invested in the child's success.

The Right to Be Heard and Participate

Every child has the right to express their views freely in all matters affecting them. They are encouraged to develop and express independent thought.

The Right to Be Prepared for Active and Responsible Citizenship

Every child is taught responsibility, a sense of community, and the importance of service.

The Right to Be Protected from Abuse and Neglect

Every child is protected from abuse, neglect, corporal punishment and all forms of exploitation.

The Right to Dignity and Freedom

Every child is treated with respect and lives in adequate conditions with sufficient belongings – fostering a sense of dignity and freedom.

The Right to Spiritual Development

Every child is provided opportunities to develop a religious affiliation that promotes spirituality and moral development.

Thank you!
